

The London College of Media and Journalism is part of Media Training and is located in their offices on 2nd Floor, 158 Waterloo Road, London SE1 8SE.

By Public Transport

- By Tube: Waterloo is on the Bakerloo, Jubilee and Northern lines.
- By Train: Waterloo British Rail Station. LCMJ is a 2 minute walk from the clock on the main concourse. Waterloo East. LCMJ is a two minute walk from the exit
- By Car: It is difficult to park in or around Waterloo. We would not recommend that you drive. There are parking meters around the station but they are expensive and you can only stay on each meter for two hours. Alternatively there is Eurostar parking which costs in the region of £25 per day.

158 Waterloo Road

Directions:

The London College of Media and Journalism is at 158 Waterloo Road at Media Training on the corner of Waterloo Road and The Cut. We are on the first floor above the bookshop.

From Waterloo station, make your way to the main platform of Waterloo British Rail station. Immediately opposite platform 4 is an exit which leads to Waterloo Road. Take the escalators down to Waterloo Road and as you leave the station turn right. Do not cross the road. As you walk from the station you will see Evans Cycle Shop on the opposite side of the road, LCMJ is the black door between the William Hill office and before the Bookcase bookshop. The door is numbered 158 and has a sign for Media Training.